BRIGHT FUTURE FOR BRIGHTHOUSE INDUSTRIES

Brighthouse has just announced a brand new innovation in cooling that will not just double, but triple the output capacity of AI data-centers! It looks like after two years of darkness, Lake has finally turned on the lights at Brighthouse Industries.

The company had been quiet for the better part of two years - and techsperts were speculating that Lake and his company were a 'one-hit-wonder' that produced their last big hit in 2024 with the Zenith Pro lineup - but those still holding out for Brighthouse have been vindicated!

The Black Ice cooling system has been announced to arrive in early May of this year - sign up for pre-orders online on their website.

The secret to change is focusing all of your energy, not on fighting the old, but on building the new
