Dear Mr. Lake,

The Board of Shareholders has completed its exhaustive review of the Corporation's performance over the preceding fiscal quarters. While we acknowledge the complexities of the current market landscape, the prevailing trajectory necessitates a decisive shift in operational strategy. To ensure the long-term viability of Brighthouse Industries and the protection of investor interests, the status quo is no longer an acceptable position.

We hereby request a comprehensive proposal detailing a new generation of proprietary innovations. It is the Board's firm stance that the Corporation must transcend its current offerings to secure a dominant market foothold. Specifically, we urge you to prioritize the pursuit of high-stakes vertical integrations—notably within the defense sector. A significant military contract would provide the requisite stability and capital influx currently absent from our balance sheets.

The expectation is clear: Brighthouse Industries must reclaim its reputation as a vanguard of invention. We anticipate a formal presentation of these new initiatives, including projected revenue yields and a timeline for procurement, within the next thirty days.
Precision and profitability must remain your singular focus.

Respectfully,

The Board of Shareholders Brighthouse Industries
